SUMMARY

NEIGHBORHOOD COMMERCIAL REZONING STUDY
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

The Neighborhood Commercial Rezoning Study report (February 1982), describes the proposal to update the current zoning standards for San Francisco's neighborhood commercial districts.

Zoning provisions currently in effect for San Francisco's neighborhood commercial districts were adopted by the Board of Supervisors in 1960 based on studies made by the Department of City Planning during the 1950s.

Land use patterns and the amount of land needed for various activities have changed during the last 20 years. These changes in land use necessitate a re-examination of existing zoning provisions. The urgency to comprehensively revise the Code is underscored by several proposed zoning reclassifications, the special use districts and various moratoria now in existence, as well as the number of individual projects requiring City Planning Commission review.

The proposal would replace the existing C-1, C-2, RC, CM and Special Use Districts with a new citywide zoning framework which would have the flexibility to address the needs of each neighborhood commercial district through the application of controls tailored to these districts.

This report illustrates different controls that would be available to each commercial district. Listed for each zoning category (such as parking, rear yard standards, upper story commercial uses, location of banks and savings and loans) are several control alternatives. At a later date, after public review of this report, controls best suited to individual districts would be selected from these lists of control alternatives and recommended to the City Planning Commission.

This report recommends that an abbreviated conditional use review process be instituted to facilitate permit processing in the neighborhood commercial districts. For the uses assigned this abbreviated procedure, a determination would be made by the Zoning Administrator subject to an appeal to the City Planning Commission. This would be used in a number of situations in place of the full conditional use process which requires a mandatory Commission appearance and usually takes a substantially longer time to complete.

For example, alternatives for the rear yard requirement of "25% of lot area or at least 15 feet" would be: 1) rear yard required at all levels; 2) rear yard required at grade level unless used for enclosed residential parking; required at second story and above; 3) rear yard required at grade level unless used for unenclosed residential parking; rear yard required at second story and above; 4) rear yard required at second story or at lowest floor occupied as a dwelling unit and above; and 5) rear yard required at lowest floor occupied as a dwelling unit and above. The alternative which would be applied to a specific street would depend on the characteristics of that street and its surroundings.

The alternatives for financial offices would be: 1) not permitted; 2) conditional (abbreviated procedure); and 3) permitted.

For example, on "A" Street, a hypothetical street with mixed residential-commercial development, partial lot coverage (75%), and rear yards abutting residential properties, rear yard alternative 2 ("provided at grade level unless used for enclosed residential parking; required at second story and above") would be appropriate. At the same time, "A" Street might have a large concentration of financial offices and require financial office alternative 2 ("conditional (abbreviated procedure)").

A second street, "B" Street, could have quite different development patterns, having full lot coverage without nearby residential uses. For this street, rear yard alternative 5 ("required at lowest floor occupied as a dwelling unit and above") would be appropriate. However, "B" Street might also show a large concentration of financial offices and require the same abbreviated conditional review process for financial offices as "A" Street.

Table 1, on the following page, is a sample application of these controls for all zoning categories for two hypothetical neighborhood commercial districts. Table 2, on page 5, is a complete listing of the zoning categories and the range of control alternatives.

The complete Neighborhood Commercial Rezoning Report is available for public review at the Department of City Planning Zoning Counter, 100 Larkin Street; the new Plans and Programs Division office at 450 McAllister, Fourth Floor; and at all city branch libraries during regular business hours.
